CEO David Hutchinson

David Hutchinson joined Nexus in 2001 as executive director of Indian Oaks Academy, and in 2007, he was promoted to CEO of Nexus.

In this capacity, he reports to the Nexus Board of Directors and is responsible for the overall direction of the organization within the framework of policies established by the board. He assesses Nexus' operational and developmental needs, and takes the appropriate action to meet the company's strategic, operational and financial objectives.

Before joining Nexus, David was president of Rapha, an Atlanta-based for-profit behavioral healthcare management company with multiple sites throughout the United States. During David's seven-year tenure with Rapha, he held various positions in the organization including regional director and vice president of operations. From 1985-1993, David held several leadership positions with Parkside Lodge of Wisconsin including director of a not-for-profit adult inpatient specialty hospital located in Janesville, Wisconsin. Lastly, from 1975-1985, David held a variety of direct practice and upper-management positions with Piasa Health Care, a comprehensive outpatient agency specializing in alcohol and drug treatment with multiple sites throughout Madison County, Illinois. Overall, David has 29 years of experience in the behavioral health field.

David earned a Master of Social Work degree from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, and a Bachelor of Arts degree, majoring in human services, from Southern Illinois University in Edwardsville, Illinois. He is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker.
