A Family of Treatment Programs

Jack W. Ewing
Vice President, Business Development

Jack has served start up organizations as well as organizations in transition, in non-profit service and proprietary health/mental health sectors.

In the for-profit arena, he served as:

- President, Mariner Hospital Services Group, a hospital-based skilled nursing contract management company (developed 32 contracts and acquired a similar company, adding 12 contracts);
- senior vice president, Cornerstone Health Management (a start up with more than 60 contacts under his supervision);
- senior product line manager (behavioral health), Baylor University Medical Center, Dallas, Texas;
- program manager for two hospital-based behavioral health programs (Horizon Health Corporation); and,
- treatment director, Brookwood Lodge, a regional corporation specializing in the treatment of chemical dependency.

In 2001, seeking more mission-driven responsibilities, Jack moved into the non-profit arena. Highlights include:

- associate vice president, Lutheran Social Services of the South (Austin, TX) providing development, leadership, and oversight of multiple foster care and adoption offices;
- management services director, The Salvation Army (Dallas, TX), providing leadership in the “back office” functions of budget and finance, property management, information technology, human resources, and purchasing; and key role in the strategic reorganization.

Jack earned a Master of Science, clinical psychology, from the University of North Texas in 1978 and a Bachelor of Science in psychology from Texas State University in 1974.

Married to Georgiana, an artist, for 25 years, they have one son, Harper, a recent graduate of Texas State University.
